

Killers actual name: mason magrathite

Killer name: the voided

Age:23

Height: 6ft 2

Weight: 115 lbs

Hair :shoulder hieght and black

Weapon of choice: uno oscuro's dagger

Weapon description: Spanish marks cover the knife with a black stone on the bottom of the handle

Eye color: pitch black

Clothes: pants , torn shirt Barely holding together , hunting belt (three skulls tired together and Their around his torso.

Any odd markings: his veins are black all over him

Backstory:Mason was a well mannered boy who grew up fascinated by archaeological finds. He had many ideals. Mason always found himself surrounded by two faced people driven by greed, lust,anger,or simply hatred. He usually suppressed his emotions around these people he was following research on a artifact known as oscuro's dagger after many sweaty and draining nights of walking he found the Dagger in a abandoned set of ruins as he unearthed it from the a slot in the wall the the roof began to drop and incave and multiple traps were sprung shooting poison needles in multiple directions he dashed out of the ruins to his amazement he had made it out he walked to the nearest road and caught a taxi back to his apartment and arranged for he and his accomplice Daniel Richard even his friend Becky marand to meet the head of the museum as the meeting went forward mansion couldn't help but feel the need to touch the Dagger it was almost a craving at the meeting mansion presented the Dagger to the head of the museum the urge grew stronger and stronger. Mason was asked to hand the Dagger over he stood there staring as his eyes began to turn pitch black all those suppressed feelings he never showed crushing him all at once he slaughtered everyone in the museum using the Dagger he found himself feeding off Their negativity he had enough strength to rip Their heads off he attached them to his belt driven by anger and hatred he searched for his accomplice and friend when he couldn't find them he was furious after that night he was never seen again.

Survivors: Daniel Richard and becky marand

Power : the killers power is something like the blight but at the same time it's like the oni's he goes into a dark rage and so if a survivor pulls a pallet down while he's in his rage he gets pissed off and stomps the pallet but his gauge resets