New Survivor: Dexter Morgan

Dexter Morgan lay dying in the bitter cold snow, The serial killer with a strict moral code felt his warm blood melt the icy surface below him, his life slowly draining from a bullet shot by his own son, Harrison. He embraced the darkness as it came, but as Harrison stepped closer, a thick, smothering fog consumed Dexter, promising him freedom in a playground where he would let his dark passenger run wild and free, but in his last dying moments, Dexter swore to adhere to his fathers moral code, and never lose control again, and closed his eyes. He awoke to the flashing lights and stink of stale gasoline of a rusty generator, and the eyes of an evil stalking him. If Dexter Morgan could not kill this new murderous presence, he would deny it the pleasure he himself craved.
